

WHAT DO A LAWYER,
A GOALIE, A TODDLER
AND THOUSANDS OF DONORS HAVE IN COMMON?

THEY ARE AS RELENTLESS AS WE ARE.

This year's Annual Report is about our patients: their courage, their determination and their grace as they strive to overcome their health challenges.

And it's about our donors — whose empathy, generosity and devotion remain unwavering, no matter what the need, no matter what the urgency.

Our community — doctors and scientists, nurses and allied health teams, staff, donors and volunteers — is driven by a never-say-never attitude, a willingness to go beyond. It's why St. Michael's is legendary for taking on some of the world's most intractable health problems. And it's why we are leaders in so many areas of medicine.

Thank you for everything you do.

We are St. Michael's, and we STOP AT NOTHING.

A MESSAGE FROM TIM, LILI AND JOHN

On the one hand, our fiscal 2019-20 ended as we planned: a record fundraising year for St. Michael's Hospital Foundation.

On the other hand, we did not expect that by year's close our world would be upended, and we would be reinventing business-as-usual in the face of the biggest global health-care challenge of our time.

We saw only one way through it. So we pivoted and we doubled down. We could do that because we have an exceptional community bonded by a unique culture: our board and committee members, our Founders, donors and volunteers, our hospital leadership, our staff in the hospital and in the Foundation — everyone rallied, buoyed by St. Michael's trademark spirit of courage, grit and compassion.

Of course, that's nothing new for St. Michael's. Before COVID-19 hit, our relentless volunteers and staff were fundraising like never before.

Four of our big campaigns — The Walter and Maria Schroeder BRAIN&HEART Centre, Kidney Transplant and Care Centre, BARLO MS Centre and MAP Centre for Urban Health Solutions — are close to their fundraising goals. The campaign for NICU and Maternal Care is gaining traction.

It was indeed a whirlwind year. Our Founders got a preview of the Peter Gilgan Patient Care Tower. Our scientists battled it out at Angels Den, now the country's hottest medical research competition, to an audience of thousands in-house and online. We showcased the work of just a few of our world-leading physicians and researchers at our inaugural Powerhouse event. We shared the pathbreaking projects of MAP at the Breakfast of Influencers, with our special guest, Finance Minister Bill Morneau. We continued to build St. Michael's profile through our Stop At Nothing public awareness campaign, now generating hundreds of thousands of dollars in donated media. And we welcomed new members, Simon Chong and Tom Woods, to our Foundation board.

At the hospital, the team continued its march to even greater strength as Dr. Ori Rotstein, Dr. Irfan Dhalla, Dr. Muhammad Mamdani and Dr. Sharon Straus took on new leadership roles, and started working intensively with the Foundation to build new programs.

As we extend our deepest thanks to our supporters, with a particular note of gratitude to Dr. Bob Howard — who has helped us navigate these uncertain waters, wisely and carefully — we also express our grief at the passing of our great friend Michael Thompson, whose boundless positivity and kindness we miss every day.

As COVID-19 continues to dominate our landscape, we have not put our plans on hold. Instead, we are reshaping them, accelerating them, determined to emerge stronger than ever.

Because we are St. Michael's, and we STOP AT NOTHING.

HOW KIDNEY PATIENT DAVE AYRES MADE NHL HISTORY.

When Dave Ayres came to St. Michael's Hospital at age 25 with a failing kidney, he never thought he'd play pro hockey again, let alone make NHL history.

But this past February, Dave did just that. At 42 years of age, he became the league's first emergency back-up goalie to win a game.

It's all thanks to a fierce mother who donated a kidney to her son, and the St. Michael's kidney transplant and care team that never says never.

"There are so many brilliant doctors at St. Michael's," Dave says. "I didn't want the transplant to dictate my life. They told me to go ahead and live."

That's exactly what he's done. Not only has Dave made international headlines, but his game-winning stick lives in the Hockey Hall of Fame.

Dave is the back-up goalie no one will ever forget.

A NEW KIDNEY — AND A SECOND CHANCE — INSPIRED ANGELO CAPUTO TO GIVE BACK.

Angelo Caputo was born with a damaged kidney. At 19, he developed diabetes. Years later, Angelo was diagnosed with congestive heart failure. That's when he discovered one of his kidneys was failing. Too much scar tissue. He started dialysis and was put on the kidney transplant waitlist.

His fiancée (now wife) wanted to donate her kidney, but their blood types weren't compatible. So they signed up for the paired kidney exchange program.

On his birthday, Angelo got the present he wanted: a compatible kidney for him and a recipient for his fiancée's. They headed to St. Michael's for the surgery.

To thank St. Michael's, Angelo organized a big traditional Italian party — with an antipasto dinner, dancing and a silent auction — that raises funds for St. Michael's new Kidney Transplant and Care Centre. “My parents have been my biggest supporters. My wife gave me a second chance at life. And the phenomenal kidney transplant and care team at St. Michael's got me over every hurdle.”

BABY SOPHIA MAKES HER DEBUT.

Beatriz didn't know if she could ever have children. She had a rare blood condition that increased her risk of miscarriage — and the risk to her life if she became pregnant. She'd already had two painful miscarriages when she discovered she was pregnant again.

Beatriz was referred to St. Michael's Hospital, and to our high-risk obstetrics team. At 19 weeks, the baby stopped growing. The doctors feared she might not pull through. But “no chance” is not in St. Michael's vocabulary.

Then, at the 35-week mark, more complications arose when Beatriz developed preeclampsia. The team performed an emergency C-section, and delivered the tiny baby, weighing just 1.5 kilograms. While Beatriz recovered in the ICU, baby Sophia was cared for in the nearby NICU.

There was a chance Sophia would be much smaller than average. That didn't happen. One year later, baby Sophia is happy, healthy and thriving. And Beatriz feels blessed.

IT TAKES A VILLAGE.

Our Campaign Cabinet: Jane Humphreys, Shawn McReynolds, Sherri Neldner, Kerry O'Reilly Wilks, Donna Poile, Helen Sinclair, Dan Sullivan and Frank Techar.

Eight champions. Eight different reasons to support a campaign that will make St. Michael's one of Canada's only academic hospitals that has maternity, labour and delivery, and neonatal intensive care — all on a single floor.

Their reasons are many and varied.

For some, it's because their own children or grandchildren were born at St. Michael's, or even treated in the NICU. So they understand from personal experience the anxiety when there are complications. And they've seen first-hand how fragile babies can thrive when they get the right care, from the first minute.

For others, it's the simple belief that every single baby deserves the best possible start in life.

And for others still, it's the realization that this is the campaign that needs them most.

But there is one thing our entire campaign cabinet has in common: the conviction that not only is St. Michael's an exceptional place for a mother to have a normal birth, but it's also the hospital with world-class expertise in complex deliveries and caring for babies with special needs.

GIULIA MUZZI MAKES HER DREAMS COME TRUE.

Giulia Muzzi was a university student, with dreams of becoming a teacher, when a spell of vertigo landed her in the doctor's office. An MRI revealed lesions on her brain. The suspicion? Multiple sclerosis.

“In that moment, I felt my whole world shatter,” she recalls.

When tests confirmed relapsing-remitting MS, Giulia refused treatment. She was in denial. Two years later, just as she was about to start teacher's college, her lower body and hands went numb. Giulia had no choice. She had to get treated.

Inspired by the relentless efforts of Dr. Jiwon Oh, interim medical director of St. Michael's BARLO MS Centre, Giulia organized an annual fundraising gala and donated the funds to Dr. Oh's world-leading imaging research.

“My life looks a little different from what I imagined it would be. And the relapses can bring you down. But I overcome them. Today, I'm a teacher, just as I dreamed. I can do this.”

IN MARIA'S HONOUR.

When Chris Bournakas' family immigrated here from Greece, they lived with his aunt, uncle and three cousins, who became like sisters to him. So when his cousin Maria was diagnosed with MS in her last year of high school, it hit both families hard.

Chris quickly learned how debilitating MS can be. In Maria's case, the disease was particularly brutal. "She went from coping to bed-ridden," he says. "There was no middle ground." Maria died in 2013, at the age of 38.

As he worked through his grief, Chris wanted to help others with MS. He led a bike-a-thon to raise money for MS research and treatment, calling it "Maria's Spartans."

He also became an early supporter of the BARLO MS Centre. "I want to make it easier for people with MS, knowing how Maria struggled with the disease," he says. "The fact that we will finally have a centre like this in Toronto is a big deal."

THE TIME IS NOW.

THE ATTACK THAT CHANGED A YOUNG LAWYER'S LIFE.

Minutes after ringing in the New Year with his girlfriend at a Toronto club, David Shellnutt was savagely beaten by two random attackers.

By the time David arrived at St. Michael's emergency department in a coma, the odds were against him.

With a brain bleed and a blown pupil, every second counted. St. Michael's renowned chief of critical care, Dr. Andrew Baker, and top neurosurgeon Dr. Julian Spears quickly assembled the multi-disciplinary surgical team that would save his life.

January 1 should have been David's last day. But thanks to St. Michael's relentless medical team — and his own determination — he's on the road to complete recovery.

To mark the one-year anniversary of the assault that changed his life, David opened up his own legal practice — representing victims of trauma, violence and bike crashes.

A LEGACY OF HELPING AND GIVING.

Life with Raymond Zucchiatti was never dull, says Beth, his wife of 58 years.

The construction business owner had many interests. He loved reading, playing bridge, attending plays and concerts. He enjoyed nature in his backyard. And he was passionate about sports, especially golfing at St. George's Golf and Country Club, and rooting for the Leafs.

But above all, he loved spending time with his family and friends. He had a way of making others feel better, even through his long battle with heart disease, for which he was treated at St. Michael's.

When Ray passed away in 2019, at 87, his family honoured his memory with a donation to The Walter and Maria Schroeder BRAIN&HEART Centre, Canada's only hub where world-leading neuro and cardiac specialists take an integrated approach to brain and heart care. His family knew a gift to the hospital would mean a lot to him.

"Ray received such excellent care at St. Michael's," Beth says, "and he loved to help people. Thanks to his hard work and generosity, we can continue his legacy of helping and giving."

HOW BEULAH JARVIS GOT HER LIFE BACK.

Urban life isn't easy, especially if you earn barely enough to pay Toronto's high rents. And without medical benefits, it's tough to afford prescription medications.

Beulah Jarvis, a medical transcriptionist with bad asthma, often had to skip doses of her medication or take cheaper, less effective substitutes.

"Sometimes my asthma was so bad, I couldn't sleep. My quality of life was terrible," she says.

In a pinch, she'd turn to her elderly mother, who was on a fixed income.

Thankfully, Dr. Nav Persaud, a top scientist at St. Michael's MAP Centre for Urban Health Solutions, was running a study to test whether providing essential medicines free of charge improved people's health and reduced overall costs to the health-care system. Beulah was lucky enough to receive free medication for a three-year period.

It changed her life.

The medication got Beulah's asthma under control, and the study's pharmacist helped with her other medical conditions.

"Finally," she said. "I didn't have to choose between medications and food and paying the basic bills anymore."

And as for our health-care system? Dr. Persaud's study has shown an astounding $3 billion in savings when people get essential medications free of charge.

“I HAVE BEEN BLESSED MY WHOLE LIFE. NOW IT’S TIME TO GIVE BACK.”

Every time she’d go to her fitness club down the street from St. Michael’s Hospital, Lucy Boguski was struck by the sharp contrast between those like her, who have advantages, and those who do not. So when she was suddenly in a financial position to do something meaningful, she knew what cause she wanted to support: ending chronic homelessness.

When Lucy met the scientists at St. Michael’s MAP Centre for Urban Health Solutions, a world-leading research centre that designs real-world solutions to health care issues for those experiencing marginalization, she knew there was no better place to support.

“I cannot say enough about Dr. Stephen Hwang, the director of MAP. His devotion, heart and passion for those who are homeless are remarkable. I was also amazed at the work being done by Dr. Naomi Thulien, who provides rent subsidies and mentorship to youth who are living on the streets,” explains Lucy.

“As physicians, they take care of our health,” Lucy says. “And as scientists, they conduct the hard research that’s needed to improve the lives of people in cities everywhere.”

COVID-19 HAS TURNED OUR LIVES UPSIDE DOWN.

THANKFULLY, WE'RE USED TO TACKLING THE WORLD'S TOUGHEST HEALTH CHALLENGES.

In March, Canada woke to the grim reality of COVID-19. While we'd successfully weathered SARS back in 2003, the novel coronavirus was unlike anything before it, causing widespread illness and hardship.

But thanks to St. Michael's exemplary leadership, courageous frontline health-care teams and relentless donors, we were prepared.

The hospital readied itself for the anticipated influx of cases. We opened a COVID-19 Assessment Centre in the Li Ka Shing Knowledge Institute. We moved to virtual health care, whenever possible, to minimize the risk of spreading the infection. Our scientists — some of the world's leading pandemic and mechanical ventilation experts — set in motion international research projects to combat the virus. And we dedicated the Peter Gilgan Patient Care Tower — a yet-to-be-opened, stand-alone, state-of-the-art, intensive care facility — to treat only COVID-19 patients.

The Foundation responded in equal measure.

We instituted a COVID-19 communications program to keep our donor community informed, connected and reassured. We reimaged our events for the virtual world. And our amazing board sprang into action. We launched the Courage Fund to support the hospital's most urgent COVID-19 priorities. Legendary philanthropist Peter Gilgan issued a challenge to Torontonians: donate to the Courage Fund and he would match the gift. Then we launched the Power Fund to accelerate the most promising COVID-19 research.

We were determined to take care of the hospital that is relentless in taking care of us.

Our donors responded, overwhelmingly. In fact, we fielded calls 24/7 from those who wanted to help — and to give. Our community set up personal fundraisers to galvanize their own networks. Online donations poured in. Gifts large and small. More than 2,300 donors have given over $11 million to support the hospital's COVID-19 priorities, so far.

Our donors have given so our health-care staff, who work around the clock, have a safe and comfortable place to sleep.

They've given so our teams have the medical supplies they need to deliver care.

They've given so we have the equipment we need to ramp up our diagnostic testing.

They've given so no patient is left behind — especially those who are marginalized and don't have the supports most of us take for granted.

They've given so our palliative care patients can stay connected to their loved ones, who can no longer be by their sides.

They've given so our scientists can put an end to this pandemic.

It's a testament to the spirit of compassion and courage that defines the St. Michael's community.

Thanks to you, we are tackling the biggest global health challenge of our time.

There is an urgent need for what so many of us take for granted.

For our most vulnerable – and for those whose lives have been turned upside down by layoffs – it's food vouchers, clothes, toiletries, phones and data plans, because connection is crucial.

For palliative care patients, it's tablets to speak with loved ones who can no longer stay by their side.

And for St. Michael's frontline staff who are working around the clock to care for our patients, it's food and other essentials to keep them going.

FEATURED IN THE TORONTO STAR

Dr. Laurent Brochard, one of the world's top mechanical ventilation experts, explains COVID-19's effect on lungs and how and when ventilators can help.

FEATURED IN THE GLOBE AND MAIL

St. Michael's ICU physicians Drs. Alberto Goffi and Andrea Rigamonti learn COVID-19 lessons from Italian counterparts.

Emergency room physician Dr. James Maskalyk provides an inside view of the pandemic's impact on patients and physicians.

FEATURED IN THE NATIONAL POST

Hematologist Dr. Michelle Sholzberg is leading a study on the efficacy of blood thinners to treat patients hospitalized with COVID-19.

WHILE OUR FRONTLINE WORKERS ARE BATTLING COVID-19, OUR SCIENTISTS ARE RACING TO END IT.

Right now, our scientists are working on over 100 COVID-19 research projects.

We are developing drugs that target the virus with laser precision.

We are testing existing antivirals to prevent high-risk people from contracting COVID-19.

We are leading international research to use antibodies from recovered patients to neutralize the virus.

We are designing a province-wide model to treat long-term care residents and protect our most vulnerable.

We are equipping women with tools to stay safe amid dangerously high levels of domestic abuse.

St. Michael's is at the global forefront of the battle against COVID-19. With good reason.

THANK YOU TO ALL OUR DONORS

A TRIBUTE TO MICHAEL J. THOMPSON

Michael J. Thompson, a respected business and community leader, passed away on January 20, 2020.

Michael brought energy and excitement to his work on the board of St. Michael's Hospital Foundation, which he joined 15 years ago. He inspired his fellow board members and turned St. Michael's Urban Angel Golf Classic into Canada's premier charity golf tournament — netting an unprecedented $13 million over 13 years for the hospital's priorities.

Michael was legendary for his relentless fundraising efforts, for the technicolour attire that made him unmissable on and off the green, and for his compassion. He was recognized with the Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal for his philanthropic work, which also included serving on the board of Crohn's and Colitis Canada.

Michael stopped at nothing to champion St. Michael's Hospital and help transform it into the global powerhouse in research, education and patient care it is today. Along the way, he changed the lives of countless people. That will be his legacy.

ANGEL
